

Article Information

Author: Emily Haar, Prof Andrew Stewart, Tim Lange, Shane Entriken, Tim Capelin
Service: Employment & Labour, Employment Relations Podcast

---

Employment Relations Podcast #24 - Special Edition: Contract is King - the High Court decisions in Jamsek and Personnel Contracting

In this special edition of the Employment Law for the Time Poor Podcast, join Emily Haar and Professor Andrew Stewart for a discussion on the implications of the High Court's decisions in Jamsek and Personnel Contracting, which have adjusted the way in which the "multi-factor test" for considering whether a worker is an employee or independent contractor is conducted.

---

Rather than the broader factual circumstances being relevant, the focus now is solely on the contractual terms, unless the arrangement is a sham, or has been varied by conduct. While defending an independent contracting arrangement is now somewhat easier, each situation will need to be assessed on a case by case basis, and contractual drafting is vitally important.

For further discussion of these cases, see our insight at:

<https://piperalderman.com.au/insight/contract-rules-in-two-landmark-decisions-the-high-court-has-restored-some-confidence-in-contracting-with-individual-workers/>, or Episode 13 of the podcast for a discussion about the Full Federal Court decisions:

<https://piperalderman.com.au/insight/employment-relations-podcast-13-does-it-pass-the-smell-test-when-a-contractor-is-actually-an-employee/>.

To never miss an episode, subscribe via your preferred podcasting application:

- Apple Podcasts
- Spotify
- Google Podcasts
- If you use a different podcast app you can subscribe to the podcast by copying and pasting <https://piperalderman.libsyn.com/rss> in to the RSS feed

Piper Alderman is assisting clients on the spectrum of legal issue arising from the pandemic. Please see our COVID-19 resource hub for more information on areas including employment, industrial relations, construction law, government & defence, insolvency and property.