Defence Teaming Centre & Piper Alderman Managing Workforce Compliance in Defence

Join Defence Teaming Centre and Piper Alderman for the first Defence & Space Masterclass of 2025, where legal and industry experts will discuss key workforce challenges arising from recent amendments to the Defence Trade Controls Act 2012 (Cth) and the evolving defence regulatory landscape.

These changes create complex challenges at the intersection of national security, employment law, and workplace rights, requiring careful navigation by defence industry employers.

In this session, the panel will discuss the practical considerations businesses need to make in workforce planning when acting in compliance with defence export control obligations and other regulations, including when exemptions from anti-discrimination are (or are not) needed, and how organisations best engage in compliant hiring and workforce management.

Whether you work in legal, HR, compliance, or defence contracting, this session will equip you with essential guidance to manage these complex intersections effectively.

Conclude the session with networking opportunities, where you can connect with industry professionals, engage with our expert speakers, and exchange insights on navigating these emerging challenges.
